Niš is the third largest city of Serbia, and the administrative center of the Nišava District in southern Serbia.

It is one of the oldest cities in the Balkans and Europe, and has from ancient times been considered a gateway between the East and the West. The city was among several taken in the Roman conquest in 75 BC; the Romans built the Via Militaris in the 1st century, with Naissus being one of its key towns. It is also the birthplace of Constantine the Great, the first Christian Emperor and the founder of Constantinople, and Constantius III and Justin I.

It is home to one of the oldest churches in Serbia, dating to the 4th century, located in the suburb of Mediana. The town was named after the Nišava River, which flows through the city and which was named Navissos by the Celtic.

Niš is one of the most important industrial centers in Serbia, a center of electronics industry, industry of mechanical engineering, textile and tobacco industry. Constantine the Great Airport is its international airport. In 2013 the city was host to the celebration of 1700 years of Constantine's Edict of Milan.
